

The Under35s Reinsurance Group

Under 35s Reinsurance Group Seminar:

Introduction to Insurance Company Financial Statements
2017

The Insurance Company Financial Statements Seminar is the latest addition to our educational programme. The objective of the course is to help members to gain an understanding of financial statements in the context of (re)insurance and to appreciate how they can be a valuable source of information.

The seminar would benefit those in a client-facing role, as those specifically interested in insurance company financial analysis and reinsurer counterparty risk.

The course is held at Lloyd's of London over an afternoon and will be in lecture format with worked examples, applying the techniques learnt from the lecture topics. No prior knowledge of financial statements is required but it is anticipated that delegates will have a limited knowledge of the mechanics of reinsurance with varying degrees of experience in the insurance industry.

Lewis Phillips (Aon Benfield Analytics), who has extensive experience in the industry and of teaching this course elsewhere, has kindly volunteered his time as lecturer.

The Committee will try to accommodate all applications, but in the event the seminar is over-subscribed we reserve the right to select candidates according to our own criteria.

Please email your interest to: Angus Hampton (angus.hampton@ascotuw.com) for further details.

To be kept informed of future events, trips, and news register at www.under35s.com or follow us on LinkedIn: 'The Under 35s Reinsurance Group'